This week's Gospel Value

Humility

Today, Jesus teaches us how important it is to be humble.

Being humble means not thinking we are better or more important than other people. It means being kind, listening to others and remembering that we all need God's love.

Sometimes we want to be first, to be the best or to get all the attention. But Jesus reminds us that what really matters is having a loving heart and putting others before ourselves.

When we are humble, we don't need to show off or be praised. We can quietly do good things because we know they make God happy.

Try to do one kind thing each day without telling anyone or expecting a reward. Remember, even when nobody else notices, God sees the love in your heart.
