This week's Gospel Value

Humility

In this week's Gospel, Jesus chooses ordinary fishermen to be his special friends and helpers. They weren't famous or important. They didn't have fancy jobs or special skills. But they listened to Jesus with open hearts, and they followed him straight away. This shows us something beautiful about humility.

Humility means remembering that we don't have to be the best, the biggest, or the most important for Jesus to love us.

This week, try to show humility by doing something kind without being asked and without expecting praise.

It could be:

- letting someone else go first
- listening carefully to others
- sharing even when it's hard
